OCTOBER 29, 1999 - The New Orleans Arena opens. The building, constructed for only $112 million, is designed with the NBA in mind. A portion of its undeveloped space is allocated for NBA team use such as additional locker rooms, administrative and ticket office areas and additional executive suites.

OCTOBER 11, 2000 - The Charlotte Hornets defeat the defending champion Los Angeles Lakers 103-90 before a sellout crowd in the first-ever NBA preseason game in the New Orleans Arena.

JUNE 5, 2001 - Voters in Charlotte defeat a referendum that includes the building of a new $190 million downtown arena.

JANUARY 7, 2002 - Hornets co-owner Ray Wooldridge visits New Orleans for a meeting with state, city and arena officials. The Hornets are also courted by Louisville, Ky., Norfolk, Va., St. Louis, Mo. and Anaheim, Calif., with all cities vying to become the Hornets' new home.

JANUARY 10 - After majority owner George Shinn joins Wooldridge in New Orleans, the two indicate the city is the frontrunner.

JANUARY 17 - Shinn and Wooldridge sign a memorandum of understanding with the state and officially file an application with the NBA to move the franchise to New Orleans. They announce their intentions at a press conference at the Arena. Also announced are self-imposed ticket goals of 8,000 general seating season tickets, 2,450 club seats and 54 luxury seats by March 15.

JANUARY 24 - The team begins accepting deposits for season ticket orders. Prices range from $795.50 in the upper level to $10,750 courtside. Single-game prices of $7 and $10 per game for 1,630 upper level seats are announced.

FEBRUARY 10 - A study commissioned by the Louisiana Stadium & Exposition District assesses the economic impact of an NBA team on the New Orleans market. The study estimates the team will provide an impact of $54.2 million per year and produce $6.7 million in new state and local tax receipts.

FEBRUARY 11 - The seven-member NBA relocation committee, headed by Phoenix Suns owner Jerry Colangelo, holds its first meeting in Philadelphia following the NBA All-Star Weekend.

MARCH 13 - The team announces Hibernia Bank as its first 10-year corporate founding partner.

MARCH 15 - The self-imposed sales goals of 54 executive suites and 8,000 season tickets are both surpassed.

MARCH 20 - The relocation committee visits New Orleans, touring the Arena and meeting with area businessmen and government officials. NBA Commissioner David Stern describes the building as a "first-class arena" and praises the local effort as "one of the most dynamic presentations we've ever had."

MARCH 23 - The NBA sets new sales goals for the Hornets, requiring them to sell 1,168 additional club seats, complete paperwork on all 55 luxury suite commitments, add two multi-year corporate sponsorships and finalize agreements on broadcast rights by April 3.

MARCH 25-APRIL 17 - A special session of the Louisiana legislature deals with a number of issues including a "sports package" that will fulfill all commitments to the Hornets. All pass by wide margins.

APRIL 3 - The Hornets announce that they have exceeded all requirements set forth by the NBA. The team announces it has sold 2,538 club seats (2,400 required), reached agreement with six corporate sponsors (four required), finalized a broadcast rights agreement and completed paperwork on all 55 suites.

APRIL 4 - The team announces the signing of a television broadcast agreement with Cox Communications. Cox also joins the Hornets as the team's seventh corporate sponsor.

APRIL 9 - The NBA concludes its two-day Board of Governors meeting in New York City. Stern indicates action by the relocation committee is near, saying "they (the Hornets) have made some extraordinary progress in some areas that far exceeded anything that we could have reasonably hoped. . . .we encouraged them to go ahead and button up everything."

APRIL 18 - Gov. Mike Foster signs House Bill #46, dedicating a portion of the hotel/motel tax in Orleans Parish to the Hornets and House Bill #166, extending a tax credit to the team through Louisiana's Quality Jobs program. Both were included in the previously mentioned sports package.

APRIL 30 - Foster signs legislation for $10 million in improvements to the Arena, which will include finishing additional luxury suites and upgrading the locker rooms.

MAY 2 - The relocation committee unanimously recommends that the NBA Board of Governors approve the application of the Hornets to move from Charlotte to New Orleans. Also, state and team officials reached a 10-year agreement in principal for the franchise to play its games in New Orleans Arena.

MAY 10 - The NBA Board of Governors endorses the recommendation of the NBA Relocation Committee and approve the move of the Hornets from Charlotte to New Orleans beginning with the 2002-03 NBA season.

MAY 15 - The team plays its last game as the Charlotte Hornets when they lose 103-95 to the Nets in New Jersey in Game Five of the Eastern Conference Semifinals. The Hornets lose the series four games to one, ending their 14-year run in Charlotte.

AUGUST 19 - The New Orleans Hornets unveil their new logo, team colors and uniform designs. The new logo features the team mascot, Hugo, with the city's name across his chest. The words "New Orleans" appear above Hugo and "Hornets" appears below him -- both in teal. The basketball that appears in the logo and the "H" on Hugo's chest are both gold, a new color added to the Hornets' original color scheme of teal and purple.

THE CITY OF NEW ORLEANS

The Mississippi River first defined her, carving out the crescent shape. The explorers and early settlers laid her foundation, and the artists, chefs, musicians, writers, politicians and others who followed built her into the Queen of the Mississippi.

New Orleans is the City of Mystery, an indefinable gem. She is more than jazz and Mardi Gras; her charm travels far beyond the boundaries of the French Quarter, and her history is not limited to cemeteries and books. She is a city cradled between the Mississippi River and Lake Ponchartrain, a source of adventure and promise for some and a protective mother to others. New Orleans is ever changing, and she welcomes you, each time just the same, as though you were one of her own.

With a carefree ambiance and take-things-as-they-come attitude, New Orleans is a city you can ease into. She stands as one of the most alluring of all cities, so much so, that each year visitors flock here in hopes of having just one taste of her brand of Southern hospitality.

In and of herself, New Orleans is a legend. The air is filled with the notes of brass bands leading a long history of jazz, rhythm and blues, rock and roll, gospel and ragtime through the streets. She has also played a role in the stories of William Faulkner, Anne Rice and John Kennedy Toole.

Within each story she is the heroine who proudly wears the badge of the Garden District's lush flowerbeds and emerald-colored lawns or the intricate iron balconies found throughout the French Quarter and juxtaposed against the Central Business District's skyline. She proudly fosters the forward-thinking attitude of the Arts and Warehouse District as well as its sister neighborhood, Bywater. Through some of these neighborhoods, you'll find her vagabond child, the streetcar, weaving its path along the Mississippi or beneath a canopy of old oak trees.

The people who comprise the city of New Orleans are as diverse and unique as the ingredients in gumbo, and each group has brought its own influences to the city, making it a mixture of Spanish architecture with French-influenced language and eclectic, worldly cuisine. Because of these varied influences, New Orleans is neither strictly an American city nor the result of one European inspiration.

"Laissez les bon temps rouler," or "let the good times roll," is the New Orleans battle cry that echoes through the streets and travels upriver. From parades to festivals, New Orleans is not shy in the face of celebration. The most famous of the lot is Mardi Gras (Latin for Fat Tuesday), which takes place on the Tuesday before Ash Wednesday. This season of indulgence brims with private parties, masquerade balls and parades, where the streets fill with onlookers hoping to catch purple, green and gold doubloons (coins), beaded necklaces and the much-desired painted coconuts tossed by the Krewe of Zulu from colorful, decorated floats.

New Orleans' world-famous fare is enough to warrant a daily celebration. Here, meals are something to be savored, not rushed. It's not cooking; it's creating a masterpiece. Whatever your tastes, New Orleans will satisfy them and in most cases dazzle your taste buds. Whether the cooking is Cajun (spiced with hot pepper and signaled with a robust taste) or Creole (spicier than Cajun fare and known as "city cooking"), you will be sure to experience a bit of the Southern hospitality that seeps into every facet of the city. In most places, people eat to live. In New Orleans, people live to eat.

New Orleans has so many divine personalities that it is a challenge to know how to begin exploring her. Rich in culture and history, gifted in music and cuisine, immersed in art and architecture, lavished in celebration and beauty, New Orleans has so much to offer both visitors and residents. For those who live in this City of Mystery, she is the centerpiece of their stories. And to those who visit, she is a newfound treasure.

MEDIA INFORMATION

As we enter into the 2002-03 NBA season, the inaugural year of New Orleans Hornets basketball, the public relations department would like to establish a professional working relationship with the members of the media who are new to the organization and continue the positive relationship we have with the members of the media who have covered us in the past. Please read through the following guidelines, and if you have any further questions, feel free to contact a member of the public relations staff at (504) 301-4002.

MEDIA CREDENTIALS

Single game requests should be directed to the Hornets public relations office no later than noon the day before the game you wish to cover (Friday noon for Sunday and Monday games). First-time requests must be in written form on company letterhead and received by the aforementioned deadline. Because of limited press seating, credentials and/or courtside seats cannot be guaranteed. Credentials are good for admittance to the pressroom, dining area, locker rooms and seating areas. They may be picked up at the press gate, located at the loading dock entrance to the arena across the street from the West bus lot. Credentials must be worn at all times and are non-transferable. Any unauthorized use will subject the bearer to ejection from the arena and the forfeiture of the credential. An autograph request by a media member will also result in the forfeiture of the credential.

PRESS PARKING/PRESS GATE

Working media should park in the West Bus Lot under the Harrah's billboard sign and cross the street to enter the building through the doors by the loading dock. You will be able to pick up your credential at a table in front of the security office windows upon entering the arena. If you do not have a specific parking pass for the West bus lot, but have a credential for a particular game, your name will be on a parking list held by the security guard at the entrance of the lot.

PRESS ROOM

The pressroom is located at the west end of the arena to the right of the loading dock areas and is open four hours before game time. We must limit pressroom usage to the working media and game staff only. We are not able to accommodate any family, friends or guests. Telephones, fax service, internet access, game notes, statistics, quotes and out-of-town scores are available in this area. Please use common courtesy in securing a quiet working environment in the pressroom.

PRE AND POSTGAME INTERVIEWS

In accordance with NBA policy, the locker rooms are open to members of the media until 45 minutes before the game and within 10 minutes after the game. Players and coaches are available for interviews at those times. Only working members of the media with valid credentials will be admitted to the locker room. Your cooperation is requested in maintaining a professional atmosphere in the locker room for pre and post game interviews. Head Coach Paul Silas will be available approximately 10 minutes following the game in the interview room which is adjacent to the press room.

GAME NOTES AND STATISTICS

Game notes and programs are available in the pressroom three hours before each game. Statistics are distributed to the working media during the game and are also available in the pressroom. Post game notes and quotes are distributed a short time following the completion of the game. Statistics monitors are provided at courtside for television and radio broadcasts as well as for print and television media.

MEDIA GUIDELINES & POLICIES

FAX SERVICE

The Hornets will provide complimentary fax service to members of the working media following each game. Please contact a member of the public relations department if you need to use the fax machine.

PHONE SERVICE

Media members requiring private telephone service at the New Orleans Arena should contact Dave Stewart at (504) 587-3897. For best results, a seven-day notice is recommended.

PHOTOGRAPHERS

Season passes will be provided to accredited photographers from New Orleans area daily newspapers and television stations who plan on covering at least 35 of the Hornets' 41 regular season home games. Weekly newspaper photographers will be handled on an individual game basis. Please contact the public relations department so we can provide you with needed photographs. Photographers must be on assignment for a publication to be credentialed. Limited space is available at each end of the court for both television and still photographers. Photographers must stay in the designated area. Photographers may not sit on equipment cases and live television cameras have first priority on location and right of way. All NBA league rules regarding photography apply.

MEALS

A pregame meal is served in the room adjacent to the media workroom at the arena two and a half hours before each game. Beverages and snacks are available in the pressroom at halftime and following each game.

PRACTICE POLICY

The Hornets practice at the Alario Center in Westwego located off of the West Bank Expressway (2000 Segnette Boulevard). The media should enter through the main entrance of the building (adjacent to the box office window) and park in the general parking lot. Parking in the turnaround area is not permitted, and violators will be towed. Practices are closed to the public, but open for the final 30 minutes to the media. The players and coaches are available immediately following the practice for interviews courtside. Please contact the Hornets public relations department to confirm practice times and the availability of the players and coaches. Interviews lasting longer than five minutes should be scheduled in advance with the Hornets public relations department. Photographers and television crews may shoot the final 30 minutes of practice. There is a press area with phone access available to the media throughout practice.

PLAYER PERSONNEL GUIDE

ACTIVE LIST
The maximum number of players that a team may carry on its Active List is 12. Any team may from time to time as appropriate, but for no more than two consecutive weeks at a time during the regular season, have 11 players on its Active List. No team may appear for any exhibition or regular season game unless at least eight players are dressed for and eligible and able to participate in such game.

INJURED LIST
Any player placed on the Injured List who is replaced on his team's Active List may not be restored to his team's Active List until at least five regular season games have been played by his team after he was transferred to the Injured List. For injuries occurring near the end of the season, the injured player must remain on the Injured List for five games or as many games as remain in the regular season, whichever is less. The maximum number of players that a team may carry on its Injured List is three, with the exception of the Special Hardship Rule.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT
Beginning on January 6 or the first business day after January 6, and solely for the purpose of replacing an injured player, a team may enter into a player contract limited to 10 days or a period encompassing three games played by the team, whichever is longer. No team may enter into such a contract with the same player more than twice during the course of any one season.

TRADING DEADLINE
From the start of the season until 3:00 p.m. (Eastern time) on Thursday, February 20, 2003, teams may make such changes in their playing rosters as they shall deem appropriate. Teams may resume trading beginning at the end of the regular season, except that no playoff team may trade a player on its playoff roster until the team is eliminated from the playoffs.

WAIVERS
From August 15, 2002 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time may be claimed within 10 days. If no team claims the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one club claims a waived player, the one with the lesser record at that time claims the player.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE
Any player whose contract is terminated for "lack of skill" during the period from January 10 through the end of the season shall be entitled to receive his full salary for the season.

RENUNCIATION OF AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY
A person whose high school class has graduated shall become eligible for the NBA Draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft (May 11, 2003). Prior to the 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct contact with the players who have intercollegiate basketball eligibility left. Clubs may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

PLAYOFF ELIGIBILITY AND ROSTERS
Each team must submit a list of its players eligible to compete in playoff games by 3:00 P.M. (Eastern Time) on the day following the end of the regular season. No team may appear for any game unless at least nine players are dressed and eligible and able to participate. Because there is no Injured List for the playoffs, each playoff team must designate 12 players eligible for the playoffs.

THE FRONT OFFICE

GEORGE SHINN
MAJORITY OWNER / MANAGING GENERAL PARTNER

Growing up in the small North Carolina town of Kannapolis, businessman George Shinn always dreamt of owning a professional sports franchise. Armed only with a lifelong love for sports, seasoned sales skills and his strong religious faith, he set out to accomplish this seemingly impossible task in 1985.

Shinn initiated his charge to obtain an NBA franchise and required just two years to see his dream realized. On April Fool's Day, 1987, NBA Commissioner David Stern called Shinn with the news -- he had been selected as the first to receive one of the new expansion franchises.

In the summer of 1999, Shinn brought in Ray Wooldridge as an ownership partner with the Hornets and Charlotte Sting of the WNBA by selling him 35 percent of the club. Upon the Hornets' move to New Orleans, the Sting remained in Charlotte for the 2002 season and are now operated by the WNBA.

Shinn owned the Charlotte Hornets for all 14 years of their existence prior to relocating the team to New Orleans for the 2002-03 season. On January 17, 2002, Shinn and Wooldridge officially filed an application with the NBA to move the franchise to New Orleans. The New Orleans Hornets were born approximately four months later on May 10, as the NBA Board of Governors endorsed the recommendation of the NBA Relocation Committee to approve the team's move.

"I will always have fond memories of Charlotte since that's the area where I was raised and spent most of my life," said Shinn. "Over the past year, I have become enamored with the people and entire community of New Orleans and have discovered why this is such a great market for pro sports and especially an NBA franchise. I am proud to call New Orleans my new home."

Shinn plans to spend most of his time in New Orleans conducting speaking engagements and assisting in several community-related projects helping to make New Orleans a better place to live. This kind of dedication to the community has brought him the Humanitarian of the Year award from the National Conference of Christians and Jews and the Distinguished Community Service Award from the Anti-Defamation League. Children occupy a special place in his life, and he is especially active in several children's causes. He has given holiday parties for hundreds of underprivileged children and has also actively supported senior citizens and the handicapped.

As a young man in Kannapolis, Shinn worked in a textile mill, washed cars and was a janitor in a school he would later own. From this school, the Rutledge Education System began to grow, and the chain of proprietary schools was the building block to his fortune. As his business schools boomed, Shinn expanded his investment horizons to include real estate development, auto dealerships, publishing and a traffic reporting company. In addition to owning the Hornets, he was the owner of the Triple-A Charlotte Knights minor league baseball club before selling the franchise in 1997.

On May 14, 2001, Shinn entered into an agreement to bring professional hockey to Atlantic City's Historic Boardwalk Hall starting in the 2001-02 season. Shinn purchased the Birmingham team of the East Coast Hockey League, and the ECHL's Board of Governors approved the relocation of that club to Atlantic City.

Shinn, 60, was awarded the Horatio Alger Award in 1975, which recognizes "rags-to-riches" business people who achieve success while maintaining values in patriotism, faith and civic involvement. One of 11 selected from 2,000 nominees, the then 34-year-old Shinn was the youngest person ever to win the coveted award at the time.

Shinn is the author of five books, including the 1977 autobiography "Good Morning, Lord!" (reprinted as "The American Dream Still Works") and "Leadership Development," a best-selling textbook. A biographical account of his life and his experiences as an NBA owner, "You Gotta Believe," is in bookstores. The concepts and experiences revealed in the books are the central subjects of the many motivational speeches he gives year-round throughout the country.

While in Charlotte, The Uptown Shelter/George Shinn Center was named in his honor in recognition of his efforts to raise more than $1 million for expansion of the building in 1989. Shinn donated $150,000 from a preseason Hornets game to the shelter. Later, he personally committed an additional $300,000 to help the shelter meet its goal. In addition to this involvement, the George Shinn Foundation has contributed over $100,000 in each of the last seven years to other charitable causes. This reflects Shinn's commitment to donate at least 10 percent of his annual income to charity. Shinn was one of 12 people to receive an American Success Award from President George Bush at the White House for his work in vocational-technical education.

Other donations while in Charlotte included $200,000 to the Princeville, N.C. mayor on April 9, 2000, to aid flood victims of Hurricane Floyd. In 1998, he donated $100,000 to the Charlotte Symphony to fulfill their budgetary needs and ensure their existence for another year.

Shinn has received five honorary degrees in the humanities and another for his support of higher education.

RAY WOOLDRIDGE
CO-OWNER

On July 29, 1999, Ray Wooldridge bought 35 percent of the Hornets to become a partner with George Shinn in the team, with an option to increase his percentage of ownership. He has worked diligently over the past year to bring the NBA back to New Orleans and win a championship.

Until recently, the two were also ownership partners in the Charlotte Checkers of the East Coast Hockey League. The Checkers were owned and operated by Big Play Entertainment, a company owned solely by Wooldridge, until the Checkers were sold in May 2002. The WNBA Sting was operated by the partnership through the 2001-2002 season and reached the 2001 WNBA Finals.

Wooldridge is president and chief executive officer of Atlanta-based Space Master Building Systems, a nationwide manufacturer and supplier of relocatable and permanent commercial building products. His investment interests have included publishing, travel planning, advertising, equipment leasing and residential and commercial real estate development.

In 1982, he founded and was sole owner of Space Master International, a manufacturer and supplier of relocatable commercial building products and expanded to 30 offices nationwide. He sold the leasing segment of that company in 1998. Additionally, Wooldridge is the president and sole owner of Big Play Entertainment, a developer of entertainment ventures.

Regarding Wooldridge's partnership, NBA Commissioner David Stern said: "This is a very positive day for the NBA. Mr. Wooldridge should be a good addition to our league." Stern noted that Wooldridge had been into his NBA office a few years earlier and "was interested in the Hornets before Shinn was interested in taking on a partner. Ray Wooldridge was focused on the Hornets then."

"We feel great about our philosophy and the direction our organization is heading," the 57-year-old Wooldridge said. "We will allow our basketball people to put the best possible team on the court and expect all of our players to represent themselves and the team in a way that makes our city proud," the longtime NBA fan said.

For five years, Wooldridge was president of Gelco Space, a General Electric Company, and was executive vice president of its parent company, Transport International Pool. The companies, both worldwide leaders, specialized in relocatable and permanent commercial building products and transportation equipment leasing, respectively.

Wooldridge has demonstrated his commitment to community projects and charity organizations through the Wooldridge Family Foundation. Through his foundation, Wooldridge donated $1 million in May 2002 to help in the areas of education and recreation for young people throughout the city of New Orleans. Wooldridge has contributed $2.5 million to local schools in Atlanta, one of which named its library in his honor. Over the past five years, he has funded a position in the field of autism research and training at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. Mr. Wooldridge is also a proud supporter of the Inner-City Games, a national program.

Wooldridge served as the Finance Chairman for the State Republican Party in Georgia and was a member of the transition team for former Atlanta Mayor Bill Campbell. In addition, he was elected to the Presidential Electoral College during Bob Dole's presidential candidacy.

A native of Memphis, Tenn., Wooldridge graduated from Mississippi State and is a Certified Public Accountant. Out of school, Wooldridge worked with Ernst and Ernst, CPA's; First Tennessee Bank; and the Hertz Corporation's New York City corporate office and other locations in the United States.

Wooldridge has five children, two grandchildren, and has been an active coach in children's youth basketball and baseball leagues for the past 13 years. He travels extensively and maintains a residence in Fisher Island, Fla. An active person out of the office, Wooldridge enjoys scuba diving, tennis, horseback riding, golf and boating.

SAM RUSSO
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT OF BUSINESS

Throughout the Hornets' entire existence, Sam Russo has been invaluable in the team's daily operations. Promoted to executive vice president of business during the summer of 1997, Russo has been able to put his experience into all aspects of the business operations for the franchise, including marketing, public relations, ticketing, publications, merchandising, game night operations and community relations. With the relocation of the club to New Orleans for the 2002-03 season, Russo has helped to ensure a smooth transition and will oversee the coordination and hiring of the staff in New Orleans while maintaining his role as executive vice president of business for the organization.

Russo added another facet to his impressive resume as general manager of the Charlotte Checkers of the East Coast Hockey League from 2000-2002. With Russo at the helm, the Checkers enjoyed their highest attendance total since the early '90s and returned to the playoffs for the first time since the 1997-98 season.

While in Charlotte, Russo was also responsible for developing the staff and overseeing the operation of the Charlotte Sting of the WNBA. The Sting made the playoffs during their inaugural season of 1997 and continued to accomplish that feat in four of the next five seasons including advancing to the WNBA Finals in 2001.

Russo's ticket-scanning system, implemented four years ago to monitor which season-ticket holders attend games regularly, and his year-round assembling of fan focus groups are just two of his innovative ideas. Teams throughout the NBA regularly call Russo to inquire about these and other ideas.

Russo, 58, began his extensive career in professional athletics while still in high school, joining the Pittsburgh Pirates in the capacity of "gofer" in 1959. He spent eight years in the Pirates organizations, including the 1960 World Championship season, before heading West.

In the early 70's, Russo served as ticket/operations manager for both the two-time World Champion Oakland Athletics (1972, 1973) and the expansion Oakland Seals of the National Hockey League. His experience in ticketing also includes terms as district manager of Ticketron, Inc. for Northern California, and as the general manager of Select-A-Seat of Minnesota. He spent seven years in Denver as vice president of operations for HITECH Enterprises before joining the Denver Nuggets as their ticket/operations manager in 1984. Russo came to the Hornets prior to their inaugural season in 1988 and has been with the club ever since. Until the summer of 1997, Russo also oversaw all operations for George Shinn's Triple-A baseball team, the Charlotte Knights, before it was sold. He also supervised the facility management of the Hornets Training Center in Fort Mill, S.C.

A 1962 graduate of St. Vincent College in Latrobe, Pennsylvania, he joined the staff of the international accounting firm of Ernst & Young in 1963 after a six-month tour of active military duty. During his 25 years with that firm, including the last nine as a partner, he was responsible for technical accounting, auditing and tax and consulting services to clients in a wide range of industries and businesses.

A Certified Public Accountant and a member of the American and Pennsylvania Institutes of CPAs, DeBlander has been active in various civic, social and charitable organizations. He is currently a member of the Board of Directors of the Chemical Dependency Center of Charlotte-Mecklenburg.

He will oversee all aspects of the team's community relations, public relations and broadcasting departments and will represent the Hornets at all public events and community functions.

Martin brings 15 years of experience at the league level to the Hornets organization, as he worked at the NBA office from 1985 to 2000. From 1985 to 1990, he served as a marketing manager, where he was responsible for several of the league's successful sponsorship deals. He also implemented several of the league's grass roots programs. In 1990, he was promoted to director of corporate affairs. In that position, he was responsible for the NBA's Stay in School program and organized the league's tour of South Africa. A number of the league's players and coaches were involved in these programs through Martin's business development initiatives.

Martin most recently served as athletic director of Dillard University in New Orleans (2000-2002). During his stint at Dillard, the men's basketball team won the conference title for the first time in 10 years, earning them an appearance in the NAIA National Tournament. The women's team also enjoyed success, as they advanced to the Sweet 16 of the NAIA National Tournament. Dillard produced two All-Americans and one Academic All-American during Martin's tenure.

Before beginning his successful career in the administrative side of athletics, Martin enjoyed success on the court. He was an All-American, an All-State selection and a city MVP during his time at St. Augustine High School in New Orleans. From there, he went on to become the first player from the city to be recruited by legendary coach John Thompson at Georgetown. Martin helped the Hoyas to two NIT appearances (including a run to the semifinals as a junior) and two NCAA appearances in his four years at Georgetown. He also helped lead the team to a 29-5 record as a senior. After earning a bachelor's degree in business administration (with an emphasis in accounting), Martin was drafted by the Washington Bullets in 1979.

After college, Martin worked with Ernst & Ernst accounting firm in Washington, D.C. from 1979-80. He then worked as manager of the accounting department of the Machinists National Pension Fund from 1980-82. In 1982, he returned to his native New Orleans as manger of accounting for the New Orleans World Exposition and World's Fair, where he stayed until joining the NBA league office in 1985.

Martin resides in New Orleans with his wife of 14 years, Elise (also a New Orleans native), and their 13 year-old son, Stephen Jr. (a.k.a. "Deuce").

Schweickert's various nation-wide duty stations included Buffalo, New York, Detroit, Washington, D.C., Charlotte, Baltimore and Columbia, with investigative assignments throughout the United States. He also served in a variety of supervisory positions in Washington, Charlotte and Baltimore.

Schweickert boasts a diverse educational and occupational background, centering around government service at the state and national level. He received a bachelor of science degree from the University of Virginia, a master's degree from Southern Illinois University, and attended the University of Baltimore Law School. As an officer in the United States Army, he served two tours of active duty. Prior to his appointment to the FBI, he was employed by the Maryland State Department of Parole and Probation.

Schweickert's athletic involvement is also varied. He attended college on a football scholarship and has remained active in power lifting competition for many years. In addition to his duties with the Hornets, he serves on the board of directors for several civic and religious groups, and consults on law enforcement and investigative matters through a network of former Federal Investigators.

Todd Santino enters his first season as vice president of sponsorship sales with the Hornets and will oversee the sponsorship sales department including the sale, coordination, and service of all of the team's sponsorship programs.

Santino, a 15-year NBA veteran, brings a wealth of experience to the Hornets. He began his sports marketing career with the Golden State Warriors in 1987, when the team initially brought broadcast sales in-house and began selling arena signage. He spent over nine years with the team in a variety of sales management positions, including director of media sales and director of sponsor sales. Under his direction, the Warriors' sales department rose from a start-up operation into one of the NBA's top five revenue-producing franchises at the time, selling out the team's television, radio and signage inventory for eight straight seasons. In 1994, he was elected and served for three years as the sole sports representative on the S.T.A.R. Board, the Bay Area's television, advertising and radio association.

From mid-1996 to 2000, Santino was employed by Maloof Sports and Entertainment as director of corporate partnerships, overseeing the sponsorship sales efforts for the company's four sports properties: the Sacramento Kings (NBA), the Sacramento Monarchs (WNBA), and the Sacramento Knights (CISL), and ARCO Arena. During Santino's three seasons as director of corporate partnerships, the Kings' sponsorship revenue nearly doubled.

Prior to assuming his current role, Santino returned to the Golden State Warriors as director of corporate sales. During his second tenure with the organization, he was instrumental in growing the client base of sponsors from 25 to 104.

Santino received a business degree from the University of Southern California in 1986, where he was a pitcher on the Trojans' baseball team. A San Rafael, Calif. native, he currently resides in New Orleans.

As the team's vice president of broadcast operations, Martin oversees all of the Hornets' broadcast properties while taking on TV play-by-play responsibilities for all Hornets contests on Cox Communications.

The 30+ year sports broadcasting veteran spent the first two years of the team's existence as its radio play-by-play announcer. Over those two years as the "Voice of the Charlotte Hornets," he became well-known for his lively description of NBA action and his exciting calls of last second victories, including the first in the franchise's history. NOTES

BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

BOB BASS
EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

The New Orleans Hornets can credit Executive Vice President of Basketball Operations Bob Bass with consistently putting a winning team on the basketball floor. He joined the Hornets as vice president of basketball operations on June 12, 1995, and was later promoted to executive vice president during the summer of 1997. He oversees all of the team's basketball-related affairs, including player personnel decisions and the franchise's extensive scouting network. Bass received the 1997 NBA Executive of the Year Award from The Sporting News (for the second time in his illustrious career) in just his second season with the Hornets. He has been responsible for acquiring NBA All-Star Baron Davis, Jamal Mashburn, P.J. Brown, David Wesley and Elden Campbell, as well as many other transactions. In his seven-season tenure with Charlotte, the Hornets have posted a .574 winning percentage (311-231) and qualified for the NBA Playoffs five times.

In 1995, Bass brought more than three decades of professional basketball experience with him to the Hornets. He spent 20 years with the San Antonio Spurs, both in the NBA and ABA, serving the organization in a variety of capacities, most recently as vice president of basketball operations (1990-94). He also spent eight years in the ABA, primarily as a head coach and general manager for the Denver, Miami, and Memphis franchises.

Bass began his association with the Spurs in December of 1974 when he was named the team's head coach. That season, the Spurs finished with a 51-33 record, including a 34-23 mark under Bass. The next season, Bass led the Spurs to a 50-34 record and their second straight trip to the ABA playoffs. In May of 1976, Bass made his move to the front office, serving as the assistant to Spurs President Angelo Drossos. But just a year later, for the 1977-78 season, Bass found himself as both assistant to the president and back on the sidelines as an assistant coach for Doug Moe. The next season, 1978-79, Bass filled both jobs as well.

In August of 1979, Bass was named the Spurs' general manager. However, he didn't remain in the front office for long. On March 1, 1980, the Spurs fired Doug Moe and Bass was once again the Spurs' headman for the final 16 games of the season. Following the season, Bass returned to the front office as general manager in the summer of 1980. He spent the next three seasons in that role until the 1983-84 season. On December 28, 1983, he replaced Head Coach Morris McHone and took over a team with an 11-20 mark. Under Bass, the Spurs went 26-25 and were able to salvage a 37-45 overall record. At the end of the season, Bass returned to his role of general manager. He remained the Spurs' GM for the next three seasons. In the summer of 1987, he was named vice president/general manager.

In June of 1988, after Red McCombs purchased the team, Bass again had his title changed as he was named the assistant to the chairman. He remained in that position during the 1989-90 season, when he was named the NBA Executive of the Year after the Spurs posted a franchise-best 56-26 record. In September of 1990, Bass was named the Spurs' vice president of basketball operations, where he stayed for four seasons. He also made his fourth trip to the sidelines during the 1991-92 season. On January 21, 1992, he replaced Larry Brown and led the Spurs to a 26-18 mark. In all, Bass posted a 144-108 record as the Spurs' head coach. His 20-year stay with the Spurs ended following the 1993-94 season.

Bass started his coaching career in the high school ranks, spending two seasons at Cromwell High School. Then in 1952, he was named the head coach at Oklahoma Baptist University. He spent the next 15 years at the school, and during that time his teams were 275-143, winning six conference titles and making six trips to the NAIA Tournament. In 1966, the Bisons won the NAIA Championship, and Bass was named the NAIA Coach of the Year.

In 1967, Bass made his move to the professional ranks as he was named the head coach of the Denver Rockets. He spent the next two seasons with the Rockets, compiling an 89-67 record. He returned to the college ranks in 1969, spending a season and a half with Texas Tech. After that stop, Bass returned to the ABA serving as a head coach with Memphis, Miami and San Antonio. During the 1973-74 season, Bass served as the director of referees for the ABA before joining the Spurs in 1974.

Bass and his wife, Pat, have two sons, Kelly and Kip.

JEFF BOWER
GENERAL MANAGER

Jeff Bower has become a valuable asset to the Hornets basketball staff. He has spent the last five seasons with the club, including the 2001-02 season as the team's general manager. Bower was named to the position on June 4, 2001, after spending the 2000-01 season as the team's assistant general manager.

Bower handles the day-to-day basketball operations and assists Executive Vice President of Basketball Operations Bob Bass in all aspects, including player personnel decisions, coordinating the schedules for the entire college scouting staff and compiling data in preparation for the NBA Draft.

Bower was the Hornets' director of scouting from the 1997-98 season through 1999-00. In addition to his scouting duties during the 1998-99 season, Bower joined the coaching ranks as an assistant after Paul Silas was named interim head coach on March 7, 1999 and helped him lead the Hornets to an impressive 22-13 record.

Bower began his tenure with the Hornets as an advance scout from 1995 to 1997, watching over 100 games a year. Bower spent three years as an assistant coach at Penn State University from 1983-1986 and then moved to Marist College in Poughkeepsie, N.Y. After first serving as an assistant coach from 1986 through 1990, he was promoted to associate head coach, a position he held for five years. During his stay at Marist, the Red Foxes made an NCAA Tournament appearance in 1987 after winning the Northeast Conference. Bower also coached former Indiana Pacers starting center Rik Smits, the second overall pick in the 1988 NBA Draft, for two years.

In addition to his college and NBA accolades, Bower was a three-time guest of the International Basketball Academy held in Pula, Croatia, where he gave coaching clinics and instruction to players.

The native of Hollidaysburg, Penn., resides in New Orleans with his wife, Lisa, and holds a bachelor of arts degree in history/education from St. Francis College in Pennsylvania.

Seasons As Hornets' Head Coach: Fifth
Record As Hornets' Head Coach: 161-120 (.573)
Birthdate: July 12, 1943 (Prescott, AR)
High School: McClymonds (Oakland, CA)
College: Creighton '64

Paul Silas completed his fourth season as the team's head coach in 2001-02 and led the Hornets to their third straight playoff appearance. Under Silas in 2000-01, the Hornets advanced further into the playoffs than any other team in franchise history, falling just one game short of the Eastern Conference Finals. His 161 career victories with the Hornets and .573 winning percentage both rank second among all-time Hornets head coaches.

On March 7, 1999, Silas became the Hornets' fifth head coach on an interim basis. After his appointment during that 1998-99 season, the Hornets turned a dismal 4-11 start into a strong finish to become a playoff contender in the Eastern Conference. The Hornets were rejuvenated with Silas at the helm, and on May 11, 1999, the word "interim" was removed from his title. In his first full season as head coach in 1999-2000, Silas led the team to the fourth-best record in the Eastern Conference at 49-33.

Silas joined the club in 1997 when he was named an assistant coach on July 18. His coaching résumé before coming to the Hornets was a long and impressive list that included two seasons as the top assistant with the Phoenix Suns from 1995 through 1997. Prior to the 1995-96 season, Silas worked for the New Jersey Nets for four seasons (1988-89, 1992-95), including one season under Hall-of-Famer Chuck Daly. From 1989-92, he was an assistant for the New York Knicks, including one season under Pat Riley. Following his illustrious playing career in the NBA, Silas was the head coach of the San Diego Clippers (the franchise's ninth head coach) for three seasons from 1980-83.

During his 16-year NBA career, the 6-7 forward won three NBA Championships (two with Boston and one with Seattle in 1979) and was a two-time NBA All-Star. Considered one of the best rebounders in the history of the NBA, Silas ranks 16th on the all-time list with 12,357 career boards and 14th in games played with 1,254 (at the start of the 2002-2003 season). At the time of his retirement in 1980, Silas was the ninth-most prolific rebounder in NBA history and fifth-highest in NBA Playoff history. He also ranked eighth in games played and 160th in scoring (11,782).

His accolades include two NBA All-Defensive First Team selections (1975, 1976) and three consecutive All-Defensive Second Team selections (1971, 1972, 1973). Over his career, he averaged 9.4 points and 9.9 rebounds in 1,254 games.

Silas, 58, was originally a second round pick by the St. Louis Hawks in the 1964 NBA Draft (12th overall). He played for the Hawks franchise for five seasons and was then traded to Phoenix, where he completed three seasons. Silas was then traded to Boston and won two championships in four years. After playing one season with the Denver Nuggets, he finished his career by playing in Seattle for three seasons, including the Sonics' 1979 NBA Championship season. Silas, a former president of the NBA Players Association, had his best season during the 1971-72 campaign when he averaged 17.5 points and 11.9 rebounds for Phoenix.

Silas' collegiate career was just as impressive. While at Creighton University (1964), he led the NCAA with a 20.6 rebound average in 1963. He also holds the NCAA record for most rebounds in a three-year career with 1,751 and currently ranks sixth overall on the NCAA's all-time rebounds list. He is one of six players to average 20 points and 20 rebounds in a single season, joining Walt Dukes, Bill Russell, Julius Erving, Artis Gilmore and Kermit Washington and still holds the eighth-highest rebounding performance in a single game with 38 caroms on Feb. 19, 1962. He earned a bachelor's degree in marketing from Creighton.

Born in Prescott, Ark., Silas was a prep standout at McClymonds High in Oakland, which also produced the likes of Bill Russell, baseball's Frank Robinson and Vada Pinson. He and his wife, Carolyn, have three children, Donna, Paula and Stephen. Silas hosts an annual corporate basketball tournament in New York featuring former NBA greats to raise funds for the Boys and Girls Club of Northern Westchester.

BRIAN HILL
ASSISTANT COACH

Seasons As Hornets' Assistant Coach: Second
Record As NBA Head Coach: 222-227 (.494)
Birthdate: September 19, 1947 (East Orange, NJ)
High School: Our Lady Of The Valley (Orange, NJ)
College: Kennedy College '69

NBA coaching veteran Brian Hill added 14 years of NBA coaching experience (including a trip to the NBA Finals) to the Hornets' bench, as he joined the club as an assistant coach in 2001-02.

Hill's coaching career has spanned over 30 years, including head coaching positions with Orlando and Vancouver. Under Hill's direction, Orlando made their only appearance in the NBA Finals in 1995. His NBA coaching career began in 1986, serving as an assistant to Mike Fratello in Atlanta. After four seasons in Atlanta (during which the Hawks were 200-128, .609), Hill joined the Orlando Magic as an assistant to Matt Guokas in 1990. After three seasons with the Magic, he was promoted to head coach prior to the 1993-94 season.

The impact of Hill's promotion was immediate. The Magic improved their record by 11 games in his first season, finishing at 50-32 (.610, then a franchise record for most wins), and reached the playoffs for the first time in franchise history. The following season, Hill guided the Magic to a 57-25 (.695) record, the Atlantic Division title and a trip to the 1995 NBA Finals against the Houston Rockets. The team's success also translated into individual accolades for Hill, as he was named head coach of the 1995 Eastern Conference All-Star team.

Hill followed up his record-setting 1994-95 season by leading the Magic to a 60-22 (.732) mark the following year, a franchise record that still stands. He also led the Magic to their second consecutive Atlantic Division crown, as the team advanced to the Eastern Conference Finals before losing to the eventual NBA Champion Chicago Bulls. During his three and a half seasons with the Magic, Hill's teams posted a 191-104 (.647) record. His home record while in Orlando was 122-26 (.824) including 40 consecutive wins spanning from March 12, 1995 through March 19, 1996. Hill's record over his first three seasons (167-79, .679) is third in NBA history behind Pat Riley and Phil Jackson. He also ranks as the ninth-fastest head coach to reach 100 victories, accomplishing the feat in 149 games.

Hill was named head coach of the Vancouver Grizzlies prior to the 1997-98 season. As the third head coach in franchise history, he took over a team that had won just 14 games in 1996-97. The Grizzlies improved by five games under the first year of Hill's leadership, as they finished 19-63 (.232) for the 1997-98 season. The team managed just eight wins during the shortened 1998-99 NBA season, posting an 8-42 (.160) mark. Hill's career with the Grizzlies came to an end 22 games into the 1999-00 season. The Grizzlies were 4-18 at the time of his departure.

Hill's coaching career also includes 17 years at the high school and collegiate level. He began his college coaching career as an assistant at Montclair State (New Jersey) in 1972, and held assistant coaching positions at Lehigh University and Penn State. He was the head coach at Lehigh for eight seasons.

Hill, 53, was born in East Orange, N.J., and attended high school at Our Lady of the Valley before attending Kennedy College in Nebraska. He graduated from Kennedy in 1969, earning a bachelor's degree in physical education while becoming a three-year starter on the basketball team and lettering in track.

In addition to his coaching experience, Hill served as the co-host of "NBA Match-Up" on ESPN during the 2000-01 season.

Hill is also active in fundraising for Cystic Fibrosis research and was honored with the Breath of Life award from the National Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in 2002. He received the award after breaking the $2 million mark in money raised for research since 1997. Hill continued his work in the summer of 2002, raising over $250,000 with Brian Hill's Drive For a Cure and the Brian Hill Invitational golf tournaments.

Hill and his wife, Kay, have two children, Kimberly, 31, and Christopher, 28.

Stephen Silas joined the Hornets coaching staff on June 5, 2000. His main responsibilities center upon the vital functions of game preparation, including creating scouting reports, conducting pregame team walk-throughs and pregame chalk-talks. He also served as head coach of the Hornets entry in the 2002 Orlando Summer Professional League.

Originally hired in the summer of 1999 as an advance and college scout, Silas spent much of his first two seasons on the road scouting close to 200 NBA and college games. BOB DONEWALD JR.
ASSISTANT COACH

Seasons As Hornets' Assistant Coach: Second
Record As Hornets' Assistant Coach: 44-38 (.537)
Birthdate: January 26, 1970 (South Bend, IN)
High School: Normal Community (IL)
College: Western Michigan '93

2001-02 was Bob Donewald's first season as an assistant coach on Paul Silas' staff. Silas and Donewald were both with the New Jersey Nets during the 1993-94 season - Silas as an assistant coach and Donewald as a scout and an assistant to Vice President and General Manager Willis Reed.

Donewald spent five years prior to joining the Hornets as a head coach and general manager in the British Basketball League (BBL), leading his teams to the finals of the championship series three times. His final season was his most successful as a head coach, as he led the London Leopards to a 24-10 record. The Leopards were beaten by the Leicester Riders in the finals of the National Cup.

In 2001, Donewald led the Leopards on a nine-game tour of Division I schools - the first British professional basketball team tour of the United States. They finished 2-7 with wins against the University of Virginia and Bucknell.

In 1996, Donewald took his first position in England as head coach and general manager of the Leicester Riders (1996-98), and later was the head coach of the Derby Storm for one season (1998-99). He was able to turn around both franchises, previously known as perennial losers, taking each to their first finals. Leicester lost in the finals of the National Cup in 1998 and Derby lost in the finals of the Uniball Trophy in 1999.

Donewald, 33, served as an assistant coach at Morehead State from 1994-1996 and was a student assistant coach at Western Michigan from 1989-1993.

Donewald's father, Bob Donewald Sr., was a longtime college assistant and head coach who retired in 2000. He held head coaching positions at Western Michigan and Illinois State and was an assistant coach to Bobby Knight at Indiana on the undefeated national championship team in 1976.

A native of South Bend, Ind., Donewald is a 1993 graduate of Western Michigan University.

TERRY KOFLER
TRAINER/DIRECTOR OF TEAM TRAVEL

Terry Kofler has returned for his 15th season with the Hornets in 2002-03, once again facing the formidable task of keeping the Hornets healthy for an entire year. As the team's trainer, his responsibilities center on the day-to-day care, prevention, and treatment of the players' injuries. During his tenure, Kofler has provided a perfect example of durability, as he remains the only individual to attend every one of the 1,116 Hornets regular season games, all 48 playoff games and all preseason games - home and away - since the club's inception in 1988. He is certified by the National Athletic Trainers' Association.

Also serving as the team's director of travel, Kofler is responsible for managing the Hornets' in-season road itinerary. He negotiates with and serves as the liaison to the team hotels in all 27 NBA cities, and is in charge of scheduling all practice sites and shootaround times for the club's fifty-plus game road slate.

Prior to assuming his current position in the summer of 1988, Kofler had spent his entire career at Xavier University. He attended the school as an undergraduate and upon his graduation in 1976, took over the position of head athletic trainer and equipment manager. Kofler held this position from 1976 to 1983, earning his master's degree in education along the way. After spending a year as assistant to the athletic director, Kofler was named assistant athletic director in 1984 and served the school in that capacity until he became the Hornets' trainer. As assistant AD, Kofler coordinated travel arrangements for 13 varsity sports, supervised the school's athletic facilities, administered several varsity sports programs, and served as trainer for the men's basketball team.

Kofler is a past Secretary of the National Basketball Trainers Association, and was selected to be trainer for the NBA All-Star Game in Charlotte in 1991. The Cincinnati native has served as consulting trainer for Queen City Sports Medicine, Inc. in Charlotte, and as an instructor in the Education Department of Xavier University. He is also a past chairman of the Greater Cincinnati Athletic Trainers Association.

Kofler, 48, and his wife, Janet, reside in Harahan.

In addition, he travels with the team to all preseason, regular season and playoff games and can be found in his usual seat at the end of the bench.

"Big Shot," as he is known by the players and staff, also directs the team's extensive ball boy program.

Along with his daily responsibilities with the team, he has also assisted with the original 1988 CBA tryouts for the Hornets, the 1991 NBA All-Star Game, training camp for the 1995 USA Women's Basketball Team that competed in Atlanta for the Summer Olympics, and an exhibition game with the 1994 USA Men's Basketball Team that competed in the World Championships in Toronto, as well as numerous NCAA Tournament Regionals and ACC Tournaments.

His responsibilities include recording games for scouting purposes, providing scouting and specialty tapes for the coaches and players and coordinating and compiling statistical information for the entire basketball staff and players.

Wilcox comes to the Hornets after spending last season as an intern to director of scouting Erik Spoelstra, director of basketball information Jordan Cohn and video coordinator Travis Schlenk for the Miami Heat.

A native of La Habra, Calif., Wilcox attended Saint Paul High School, where he received First Team Southern Section honors along with Hornets guard Baron Davis (Crossroads High School) in 1997. Wilcox graduated from Cal State-Fullerton in 2001, earning a bachelor's degree in psychology.

He also spent his summers working numerous basketball camps around the country, including Stanford University, University of Utah, UCLA, Purdue University, Lavin Basketball Camps, Oklahoma Christian, West Coast All-Star Camps and Cal State-Fullerton.

In addition to his work at the college and pro level, he established the Wes Wilcox Basketball Camps with partner Sam Chinarian in 1999. The non-profit organization brings camps to underprivileged children in the Southern California area.

MEMORABLE MOMENTS FROM 2001-02

November 2: The Hornets start the season with a 2-0 record after consecutive home victories over Cleveland and New York. The Hornets would not be two games over the .500 mark again until March 22.

November 20: Jamal Mashburn is placed on the Injured List with a lower abdominal strain. Mashburn missed 42 games as a result of the injury. Despite playing without Mashburn and starter David Wesley (strained right arch), the Hornets defeat the Washington Wizards 95-88 in a nationally televised game at the MCI Center.

November 28: Baron Davis shoots 15-20 from the field (including 4-5 from three-point range) to score a career-high 38 points and lead the Hornets to a 104-96 win against the Pistons in Detroit. In the same game, P.J. Brown pulls down 20 rebounds and outrebounds the entire Pistons team 20-18. The Pistons' 18 rebounds are an NBA record for fewest rebounds in a game.

December 26: The Hornets host Michael Jordan and the Washington Wizards in front of a national television audience and a sellout crowd of 23,799 at the Hive. The game marks Jordan's first return to North Carolina since February 11, 1998, but the Hornets spoil the homecoming with a 99-93 victory.

January 3: Baron Davis records the third triple-double of his career with 28 points, 10 rebounds and 11 assists in a 114-102 home win over the Golden State Warriors. Only 7,770 attend the game after the city of Charlotte is hit with a severe snow storm.

January 7: P.J. Brown grabs a career-high 22 rebounds in a 94-80 home win over the Denver Nuggets. The 22 boards are the second-most ever by a Hornets player.

January 11: The Hornets beat the Clippers 92-91 in overtime at the Hive after coming back from a 17-point deficit. The Hornets score 14 points in the final 1:07 of the fourth quarter, including Bryce Drew's three-pointer with 7.7 seconds remaining to send the game into overtime. Baron Davis ties his career high with 15 assists and the Hornets win their third straight at home and third straight overall, both season highs.

January 21: The Hornets hand the New York Knicks their worst loss ever in Madison Square Garden when they beat them 111-68 in a Monday afternoon game on Martin Luther King Day. The 43-point margin of victory is the second-largest all-time in Hornets history and the win snaps a streak of eight straight losses in New York.

February 3: The Hornets wrap up a perfect 3-0 road trip with a 97-79 win in Memphis to run their road record to 14-11. The trip also includes the Hornets' first win in San Antonio since the 1997-98 season, and a one-point victory in Houston courtesy of Lee Nailon's 20-footer at the buzzer.

February 10: Baron Davis makes his first All-Star appearance, tying for team-high honors with five assists in 12 minutes of action. Davis was named as a replacement to the team after Toronto's Vince Carter went down with an injury.

February 18: Jamal Mashburn returns to the Hornets lineup after missing 42 games with a lower abdominal strain, scoring 22 points to go along with five assists, three rebounds and three steals in 44 minutes to lead the Hornets to a 101-92 win at Milwaukee.

March 1: David Wesley returns to the Hornets lineup after missing 13 games with a cracked bone in his left foot in a 100-87 win at Boston. Wesley comes off the bench for the first time as a Hornet, ending his team record streak of 337 games started.

March 27: The Hornets defeat the Magic 111-104 at the Hive for their season-high seventh straight win overall and fifth straight win at home.

April 2: Jamal Mashburn is named Eastern Conference Player of the Month for March after averaging 21.7 points, 6.5 rebounds and 3.9 assists while leading the Hornets to a 10-5 record. Mashburn is the first Hornet to be named Player of the Month since Glen Rice in 1997.

April 17: The Hornets wrap up the regular season with a 112-106 home win over the Chicago Bulls. After winning three of their last four games and getting help from other teams, the Hornets secure the fourth seed in the Eastern Conference, giving them homecourt advantage in their first round series with Orlando.

April 20: The Hornets win Game One of the first round series with the Magic when Baron Davis strips Tracy McGrady in the game's closing seconds. Jamal Mashburn leaves the game in the first quarter and is taken to the hospital at halftime. Mashburn would not play again in the playoffs after being diagnosed with a viral illness, mild anemia and B-12 deficiency.

April 27: Baron Davis' apparent game-winning shot is waved off, forcing the Hornets to go to overtime to beat the Magic 110-100 in Orlando in Game Three and take a 2-1 lead in the series. Davis puts on one of the greatest performances in Hornets' playoff history, recording the team's first-ever postseason triple-double with 33 points, 14 rebounds, and 10 assists. He also plays 52 minutes without committing a turnover.

April 30: The Hornets advance to the second round for the second straight season with their 102-85 win at Orlando. Baron Davis makes history by chalking up 28 points, 11 rebounds and 10 assists to become just the fifth player in NBA history to record back-to-back triple-doubles in the playoffs.

May 9: The Hornets get their first win in their Eastern Conference Semifinal series with New Jersey, beating the Nets 115-97 at the Hive in Game Three. Baron Davis leads the way with 26 points, eight assists, seven rebounds and a team playoff record seven steals.

May 15: The Hornets' 14-year run in Charlotte comes to an end in New Jersey when they lose to the Nets 103-95 in Game Five. The Hornets lead by three with 5:21 remaining when Baron Davis picks up his sixth foul. The Nets would take over from that point, using a 13-3 run to break the game open and cruise to the win.

* - Led NBA in attendance

The Hornets have led the NBA in attendance eight times in the franchise's 14-year history, including seven straight attendance championships between the 1990-91 and 1996-97 seasons. On December 23, 1988 in an improbable 103-101 win over the Chicago Bulls, the fans of the Queen City packed the Charlotte Coliseum for the seventh sellout in only their 12th home game. That game marked the beginning of a 364 regular season sell-out streak spanning 10 seasons. From the 1988-89 season through 1996-97, 364 of the 369 home dates were sold out. On November 25, 1997 in a 90-85 win over the Detroit Pistons, the attendance total came 1,425 people short of a sellout, ending the streak.

WHAT'S CREOLE?

Creole in its broadest sense can refer to a variety of combinations of French, Spanish, African and Caribbean cultures in colonial Louisiana. In early 19th-century New Orleans, the term Creole was a way that these "born in the colony" cultural groups differentiated themselves from the many Americans who settled in the city after the Louisiana Purchase, and from the waves of German and other immigrants arriving in the area.

WHAT'S CAJUN?

The Cajun culture sprang from the Acadians who settled in South Louisiana following their expulsion from Acadia, or Nova Scotia, in the 1700's. This French colonial culture melded with mainland French immigrant cultures and with Haitian, Spanish, English, German and Native American cultures as it evolved to form the distinctive and unique Cajun culture found today in South Lousiana.

GAME 2 - APRIL 23 AT CHARLOTTE COLISEUM - ORLANDO 103, CHARLOTTE 101 (OT)

The Hornets' comeback attempt took them to overtime, but they came up short in Game Two … the Magic took the eight-point win in OT and sent the series back to Orlando tied at one game each … Orlando dominated the first half, setting a new opponent playoff record for points scored (62) … the Hornets regrouped at halftime and outscored the Magic by 13 in the third behind 18 combined points from David Wesley and George Lynch, cutting the lead from 17 points to two heading into the fourth … the Hornets could never take the lead, but tied the game several times, including Elden Campbell's lay-up with 4.4 seconds remaining that sent the game to overtime … but the extra session was all Magic, as they scored the first seven points and never looked back … Campbell led the Hornets with 27 points, 13 boards and three blocks … Tracy McGrady led all scorers with 31.

GAME 3 - APRIL 27 AT T.D. WATHERHOUSE CENTRE - CHARLOTTE 110, ORLANDO 100 (OT)

The Hornets and Magic went to overtime for the second straight game, but this time the Hornets came out on top with a 10-point win in Orlando … the Magic led by as many as 14 in the first quarter, but the Hornets tied the game at the end of the first as part of a 32-5 run that continued into the second … the run put the Hornets up by 13, but the Magic cut the lead to five at the half … the Magic made their move in the third quarter, as they outscored the Hornets 24-16 and took a three-point lead into the final stanza … David Wesley's three capped a 10-2 Hornets run in the fourth that put them up by three … the Hornets held a three-point edge with 1:13 remaining until Tracy McGrady's three tied the game at 92 … neither team scored the rest of the game, and Baron Davis' apparent game-winning three was called off by the officials to send the game to overtime … the Hornets dominated the extra session, scoring the first five points and outscoring the Magic 18-8 overall … Davis turned in an outstanding overall performance with 33 points, 14 rebounds, 10 assists, two steals and no turnovers in 52 minutes … McGrady led all scorers with 37.

The Hornets won consecutive first round playoff series for the first time ever (swept Miami in the First Round in 2001) … in a dominating performance over the Magic, the Hornets took control with a 10-1 run late in the first half and then led by 10 at halftime (51-41) … the Hornets never let the Magic back into the game and dominated the fourth, outscoring the Magic 27-16 in the final quarter … Baron Davis recorded his second consecutive triple-double, finishing with 28 points, 11 rebounds and 10 assists … he became the first player since Magic Johnson in 1984 to have consecutive triple-dubs in the NBA Playoffs … Charlotte held Orlando to just 38.8 percent shooting from the field (46.8 percent for the Bees) and outrebounded them 51-42 … Jamaal Magloire scored a playoff career-high 19 points off the bench, and Stacey Augmon scored 13 points to go with three rebounds and two steals … Tracy McGrady had 35 points for the Magic on 12-22 shooting.

2002 SECOND ROUND VS. NEW JERSEY

GAME 1 - MAY 5 AT CONTINENTAL AIRLINES ARENA - NEW JERSEY 99, CHARLOTTE 93

The Hornets came up short in their series opener with New Jersey, falling to the Nets 99-93 for their first road loss in the playoffs … the Hornets, playing without Jamal Mashburn (viral illness) and Jamaal Magloire (suspended), started the game slowly and fell behind by 10 before closing the first quarter with a 6-0 run … the run continued into the second, where the Hornets outscored the Nets by 10 and took a six-point lead at the half … the Nets made their move in the third quarter, holding the Hornets to just 31.8 percent shooting (7-22) while they hit for 61.1 percent (11-18) in the period and took a five-point lead before the start of the fourth … the Hornets went to Elden Campbell in the fourth, and he came through with 13 points on 5-8 shooting … the Hornets led by one with just over four minutes to play, but the Nets would outscore the Hornets 10-3 the rest of the way (with six of those points coming from Jason Kidd) … Baron Davis led all scorers with 23 points and set a Hornet playoff record with seven steals … Campbell finished with 22 points and five blocks.

GAME 3 - MAY 9 AT CHARLOTTE COLISEUM - CHARLOTTE 115, NEW JERSEY 97

The Hornets dominated the Nets inside and cruised to an 18-point victory for their first win in the series … the Nets never led in the game, as the Hornets jumped out to a 12-point lead in the first quarter … the Hornets led by six late in the second quarter when Jason Kidd and David Wesley collided .. both players would return in the third (Kidd returned after receiving stitches over his right eye), but it was Baron Davis who controlled the quarter with 13 points that helped the Hornets open up an 18-point lead and take a 15-point advantage into the fourth … the Hornets cruised through the fourth, leading by as many as 22 points before going on to the win … Davis led the team with 26 points, eight assists, seven rebounds and seven steals while Wesley added 22 and George Lynch posted a double-double of 12 points and 12 rebounds.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA Playoffs – the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost records, regardless of division. Round One of the NBA Playoffs is best-of-five and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-seven.

In every series, the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. For example, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get the home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matchups, the eight qualifiers in each conference must first be ranked. The division winner with the better record becomes Team 1, the other division winner becomes Team 2, and the remaining six qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First Round are Teams 1-8, 2-7, 3-6 and 4-5 in each conference. In the Conference Semifinals, the winner of Teams 1-8 plays the winner of Teams 4-5 and the winner of Teams 2-7 plays the winner of Teams 3-6.

The NBA Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first two and last two games. The other best-of-seven playoff series, the Conference Semifinals and the Conference Finals, are played in a 2-2-1-1-1 format, while the best-of-five First Round is 2-2-1.

TWO-TEAM TIEBREAKING PROCEDURE

1. Results head-to-head.
2. Winning percentage within conference.
3. Winning percentage within division (only if teams tied are in same division).
4. Winning percentage against playoff teams in own conference.
5. Point differential in games between the two teams.
6. Point differential between offense and defense.

MULTIPLE-TEAM TIEBREAKING PROCEDURE

1. Winning percentage among all teams tied.
2. Winning percentage within conference.
3. Winning percentage within division (only if teams tied are in same division).
4. Winning percentage against playoff teams in own conference.
5. Point differential between offense and defense.

If a multiple-team tie is reduced to a two-team tie at any point using the above criteria, the two-team tie will be resolved in accordance with the existing two-team tie procedure. For the NBA Finals, involving ties between teams in different conferences, the first tiebreaker is head-to-head results. The second tiebreaker is the record of the Eastern Conference club against all West teams vs. the record of the Western Conference club against all East teams.

NBA COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

The NBA is strongly committed to creating programs that improve the quality of life for all people, with a special emphasis on reading and youth programs. Each year the league, its players and its teams donate millions of dollars and hundreds of hours to charities and community outreach programs. Through its extensive outreach programs, team foundations, and public service announcements, the NBA is deeply involved in addressing a variety of important social issues in its communities.

Read to Achieve is a year-round program designed to help young people develop a life-long love for reading that reaches an estimated 50 million children a year. It is the most extensive educational outreach initiative in the history of professional sports. In addition to a year-round promotional campaign, the effort includes the annual donation of more than 300,000 books through a variety of reading events and book fairs, as well as the creation of locally based Reading and Learning Centers.

With the support of long-time national partners such as RIF and Scholastic Inc., the NBA has created more than 30 Reading and Learning Centers throughout North America in an effort to provide access to reading materials and technology to young people everywhere.

Integral components of the program are national and local All-Star Reading Teams comprised of current and former NBA and WNBA players and other members of the NBA family, who promote reading efforts through in-arena events, Public Service Announcements, and community appearances throughout the year.

In recognition of the community outreach and commitment to service of our players, the league has established the Community Assist Award, which honors players whose efforts in the community are truly outstanding. To honor the NBA Player that reflects the passion that the league and its players have for their communities, all 29 NBA teams nominate a player for the Community Assist Award which is presented monthly throughout the year.

Awarded annually at the conclusion of each league's regular season, the NBA and WNBA Sportsmanship Awards recognize players who embody the spirit of sportsmanship. The NBA makes a $25,000 donation on behalf of the NBA Sportsmanship Award honoree, and a $10,000 donation on behalf of each of the three divisional awardees, to the charitable organization of their choice.

The NBA also supports the efforts of Prevent Child Abuse America, honors the Martin Luther King Holiday, Black History Month, Gallaudet University, the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Fund and the National Wheelchair Basketball Association.

BOBBY PHILLS FOUNDATION

Hornets Phills Dies in Crash. That's what the headlines read. The city of Charlotte was deeply saddened to lose one of its own, Charlotte Hornets player Bobby Phills. In June of 2000, Kendall Phills, wife of the late Bobby Phills, established a scholarship fund in honor of her husband. Bobby Phills life epitomized high academic achievement, dedication to family and commitment to community. He was a respected leader both on and off the court.

The BPSF is designed to continue his legacy and make a positive difference in the lives of youth for years to come. The fund partners with a variety of organizations who serve youth in our community, including athletic and mentoring programs and programs designed to benefit youth infected or affected by AIDS/HIV.

The BPSF and the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Foundation have established a partnership. Together, the organizations will offer a four-year scholarship to Southern University in Baton Rouge, Louisiana, the alma mater of both Kendall and Bobby. The BPSF also offered five $5,000 scholarships to Charlotte area seniors for the 2001-2002 school year.

The BPSF awarded $8,000 to the African-American Cultural Center to establish the Kendall and Bobby Phills Artist in Residence Program. The first presentation allowed renowned jazz artist Michael Porter to introduce youth who are interested in the arts.

The BPSF awarded $2,000 to the Metrolina Aids Project to support the Agape Family Center. The center is a respite care center for children and their families.

Kendall Phills has made numerous contributions of time and funding to various organizations, including a $5,000 contribution to the Miles McPhearson Crusade, a Christian youth crusade.

The Second Annual Celebrity Dinner & Silent Auction, "An Unforgettable All-Star Gala" was held on September 7, 2002 at Founder's Hall in Charlotte, NC. This event helped to support the BPSF in continuing to assist area students in their pursuit of a higher education.

The will event featured several celebrity guests and special honorees as well as live national entertainment.

The Hornets take great pride in building a positive, lasting impact as a contributing partner in the New Orleans community. It is the team's personal conviction to touch the lives of those who share their home. Since the organization's inception, the Hornets have created a variety of programs and partnerships to offer a message of hope, future and dreams and are steadfastly committed to making New Orleans a better place to live. Some of the community relations initiatives include:

BOOKS AND BUGS

In its 10th year, the "Books and Bugs" program challenges elementary school students to make reading a part of their daily life. Last season, 70,000 students in three counties participated in the program, reading over 30 million minutes over an eight-week period. Participating students had an opportunity to receive a variety of incentives including Hornets bookmarks, posters, T-shirts, game tickets and a pizza party with Hornets guard David Wesley.

NEW ORLEANS POLICE DEPARTMENT PARTNERSHIP

The Hornets' support of the New Orleans Police Department is both a show of appreciation and a testament to the team's commitment to make the community a better and safer place to live. As one of the team's first projects with the New Orleans Police Department, the Hornets and the NOPD will partner to produce a public service announcement promoting police recruitment.

FUNDRAISERS

The Hornets hold several fundraisers throughout the season, including: the Home Team Online Auction (an online auction via Hornets.com to benefit inner-city neighborhood revitalization), Bug Grams (message board birthday announcements to benefit the Hornets Scholarship Fund) and Autograph Alley (autographed photos, jerseys and memorabilia sold during games to benefit the Hornets Scholarship Fund).

SUMMER HOOPS CLINICS

The Hornets held 15 clinics attended by over 3,500 children during the summer of 2002. The clinics took place throughout the New Orleans area and beyond featuring instruction and speeches from P.J. Brown, Kirk Haston, George Lynch, Robert Traylor, David Wesley and Paul Silas. Clinics were held in the Lower Garden District, Gentilly, Algiers, New Orleans East, Desire, Stallings, Thibodaux/Houma, St. Bernard, Covington, Mandeville, Kenner/Harahan, West and East Jefferson and Biloxi.

HOLIDAY SPIRIT

Turkey dinners for hundreds of families throughout the New Orleans area, a holiday party for at-risk children and a toy drive are just the beginning of the Hornets' activities to help the needy throughout the holidays.

DESIGNATED DRIVERS

At every home game, volunteers will be working at the New Orleans Arena to sign up patrons to be designated drivers for their respective groups for the evening.

SPECIAL OLYMPICS

The Hornets provide financial and "hands on" support for area Special Olympic groups. Each year, the Hornets assist in raising funds for local Special Olympics chapters as well as a day of fun with Hornets players and coaches for over 200 athletes.

WISH REQUESTS

Throughout the season, the Hornets work with various organizations to grant wishes for terminally and chronically ill children from around the country. For more information, contact the Community Relations Department.

HORNETS PLAYER SECTIONS

Several Hornets players purchase 20 tickets per game throughout the season. The tickets are given to underprivileged children through various non-profit organizations.

HORNETS VISITS/PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENTS/SPEAKER'S BUREAU

Players, coaches, broadcasters, Honeybees and Hugo the Hornet make countless visits to schools, hospitals, nursing homes and community service clubs throughout the year. Please send requests to Community Relations Department, New Orleans Hornets, 1501 Girod St., New Orleans, LA 70113.

INTERNSHIPS

The Hornets provide local college students with the opportunity to gain experience in the world of professional sports in several different areas, including marketing, community relations and game operations. For more information, visit the employment section of Hornets.com.

COMMUNITY ADVISORY BOARD

As the Hornets settle in to their new hometown during their inaugural season, the team will form a community advisory board. The board will serve to help the team find the best ways to achieve a mutually beneficial relationship with the New Orleans community.

COACHES CLINICS/JUNIOR HORNETS

The Hornets help teach the fundamentals of basketball while stressing the importance of education with Coaches Clinics and the Junior Hornets program. The Junior Hornets take place prior to several games throughout the year while the Coaches Clinics program takes place in the summer.

NATIONAL ANTHEM/COLOR GUARD/INVOCATION

The Hornets invite the community to take part in each game by performing the national anthem, presenting the colors or delivering the pregame invocation. For more information, contact the Community Relations Department.
